

CARLO ZOTTI

PROFILE

My profile is characterized internationality, and it is focused on innovation. I am an enthusiast for diversity, creativity, and lateral thinking. I am particularly focused on studying how to reach inclusive commerce, local production, and wide financial access worldwide. Therefore. I deal with the democratization of credit access. online self-determination, Digital Citizenship. and technological biases' reduction at the local and global level. These issues are explored through the study of technological innovations, specifically DLT et similia.

I am determined in pursuing a career in the purview of development economics, particularly in the field of education, IT technology, agriculture, and visual storytelling as an economist and project manager, with a specific interest in the diachronic analysis of development processes in the physical and virtual world.
